You can log in to the computers with your university account.

A local home is set up at the first login. The home directories are not shared between the computers and there is no backup.

So it would be a good idea to back up your data to the personal RZ network drive at /srv/hsr/home/abc12345/.
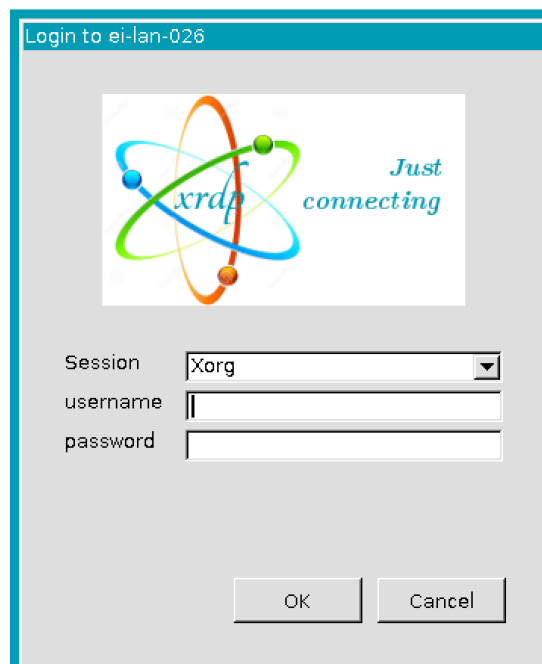

Use of the computers is restricted to members of the AD group EI_CAE Lab Users. This group currently includes the professors, staff and students of the EI faculty.
